ABOUT

Parents, teachers, families, and all other people surrounding a child can help them connect dots about where they are today and possibly, what they want to achieve tomorrow. However, understanding and wanting to fulfill purpose must come from within a child.

The time to decide what a child wants to become, what they want to contribute to their environment, and the world is now. Through its' leadership expert on PURPOSE, the Youth Hut will take our Youth on this journey to explore who they are - who they want to be - what they are called to do.

ABOUT

Every relationship that exists can only be successful first through communication. How should we communicate? In addition, how does excellent communication affect our daily lives?

How can we ensure that our communication is clear and compelling? How do our language, tone, body postures, and gestures come across? Do we provide proper feedback through active listening? At Youth Hut, we are in for growth and much more in this area. As we build the Youth Hut, we also want to excel in our personal lives.

ABOUT

Leadership Seminar on Intentionality

John Maxwell wrote, ""Good intentions are not good enough." At Youth Hut, we agree that our intentions would not create positive results until we do right on them. The goal is for our Youths to experience and embrace a new mindset of no more procrastination - that would totally transform the way they see and live life –through staying focused, growing, thinking out, and creating solutions to overcome challenges.

The aim is that through intentional living, our Youths can positively influence their sphere of influence.

ABOUT

Leadership Seminar on Developing Resilience

Life is full of challenges. We believe at Youth Hut that we need to teach our Youths this early, that irrespective of what they go through in life, they must nurture positive energy and self-view that helps them not to lose focus of their goals. In addition, they would be reminded to have a winners' mindset when there is a setback because setbacks call for reexamining to learn and have a more victorious outcome.

Keeping things in perspective and maintaining a hopeful outlook will help them remain overall in good health.
